AT A GLANCE

The journey

The cost of a safari is mostly the cost of the vehicle, the guide and the fuel. Share those with a few other travellers and the price per person drops considerably. That is the idea behind this departure.

The route covers the three essential parks in five days with no wasted time. You leave Arusha in the morning and are on a game drive in Tarangire by midday. The next day you cross the Ngorongoro highlands to the Serengeti for two nights and a full day in the Seronera area. On the fourth day you descend into Ngorongoro Crater, and on the fifth you return to Arusha.

You travel in a 4x4 Land Cruiser with a roof that opens for viewing and photographs.

Good for: solo travellers, friends and couples who are happy to share and want to keep costs down. Because the group moves together there is less flexibility than on a private safari, and the days are full.
